LIFE DIMENSIONS

LEARNING STYLE

DIVERGER

I observe my surroundings and tend to learn/gain information based on that. I have a lot of alternatives going in my mind for various life situations, and yes, I tend to wander in my imagination land a lot! 😊

STRENGTH #1

Not being short of alternatives can make solving life issues/problems much easier! Also, having an imaginative ability can make life a lot more fun! 😊

STRENGTH #2

Because of my observing skills I am very sensitive to people's moods and behaviour around me, which enhances my understanding of them

OPPORTUNITY

This learning style of mine would be useful in the brainstorming sessions at workplace, since I would be able to assess an issue at hand from various viewpoints

My buddy with opposite learning style is Sourav (Converger). Our learning styles would complement each other in problem-solving or decision-making scenarios, wherein I can provide alternatives and he can select the most practical and realistic ones from them
